Ballew, Blancas, Reed chosen local Princesses

By Helen Walker

Cathy Ballew, Monique Blancas and Nancy Reed were announced Saturday evening as the Princesses who will ride on the Sierra Madre Rose float Jan. 1 in the Tournament of Roses parade in Pasadena.

All are Sierra Madreans and were chosen from a field of 20 entrants. Rose Float President Ginny Liskow announced the names Saturday evening at the annual Coronation Ball at St. Rita's Church hall. Carroll Brown was chairman of the event.

Jim McGowan was master of ceremonies and music was provided by the Salty Dogs. Following dinner, Mickey Rooney's Talent Town furnished entertainment.

Gene Martin Beauty Salon in Pasadena styled the hair of all the entrants. Sierra Madrean Chris Osti works at the shop.

We interviewed the three winners and found that Cathy Ballew is the daughter of George and Gail Ballew of this city. She was born in Kansas City, Mo. and has lived in Sierra Madre since last June. She now considers herself a permanent resident of our town. She attended high school in Kansas City where she was on the school newspaper.

She currently attends Watterson College in Pasadena where she majors in the legal field. She hopes to become a lawyer after going to a community college and then to a university. Her hobbies are writing poetry, water skiing and horseback riding.

Cathy said, "I was amazed, excited and happy at being chosen."

Monique Blancas is the daughter of Agustin and Edna Castro. She was born in Pasadena and has lived in Sierra Madre for 10 years. She will be 17 years old in December. Monique attends Pasadena High School where she is a junior.

She hopes to become an interior decorator. She is currently on the tennis team and her hobbies are swimming and reading. She has as pets one dog, eight rabbits and fish.

"I was overwhelmed and surprised at being chosen," she told us.

Nancy Reed is the daughter of Stan and Connie Reed. She was born in Minneapolis, Minn. and has lived in Sierra Madre for 16 years since she was one year old.

She is a senior at Maranatha High School where she has been a song girl and a member

Delgattos celebrate 50 years

Joe and Mary Delgatto of Sierra Madre repeated their marriage vows 50 years later to the day Oct. 27, at St. Rita's Church. They were married Sunday, Oct. 27, 1935 in Chicago, Ill.

The couple had a concelebrated mass at St. Rita's and repeated their vows in the double ring ceremony. Their grandchildren, serving as lecturer and altar boys, included Anthony, Maurice, Michael and Peter Delgatto.

Monsignor Joseph Cokus officiated. Also serving in part of the ceremony were Rev. Douglas Saunders and Deacon Ernest Nosari from St. Rita's Church and Rev. Damien McHale and Rev. Arthur Carillo from Mater Dolorosa Monastery, all from Sierra Madre. Dr. James Fitzgerald was also deacon at the ceremony.

Following the mass, the Delgattos entertained at a dinner-dance for 155 friends and relatives at Brookside Country Club.

They were married in Chicago and moved to Lake Geneva, Wisc. six months later to be associated with Mary's father, Peter Messe, in the drycleaning business. Their three sons, Peter, Joseph and John, were all born there.

In 1954 the family moved to Sierra Madre and opened a drycleaning plant two years later.

In 1976 Joe Delgatto was Mayor of Sierra Madre, and in 1985 he was named Citizen of the Year.

Present for the festivities were maid of honor, Lucille Manola, Las Vegas, Nev., sister of Joe, and bridesmaid, Josephine Pacente, Melrose Park, Ill. Also there were Assemblyman and Mrs. Richard Mountjoy.

The Delgattos received a Papal Blessing and congratulations from President and Mrs. Reagan.

Their son, John, surprised them at the dinner-dance with a video presentation of their first 50 years of marriage.

Other grandchildren, besides those participating in the ceremony, are Theresa, Jennifer and Stephanie Delgatto Hamington, daughters of Peter and Marilyn Delgatto; and Mary Ann, daughter of Joe

Hanging baskets in downtown area

The Sierra Madre Beautification Committee's hanging basket project will get underway within the next couple of weeks when 35 redwood planters will be installed on utility poles throughout the downtown area.

The baskets, which were planted by members of the committee last week, are currently receiving extra care and attention from committee members so that the plants will be "settled in" before installation.

Plant donors and contributors who have made the project possible through generous donations include Jules and Rita Adamick, A. V. Balash, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Decker, Delahooke & Associates, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frontino, Carl and Marion Harfman, Mr. and Mrs. George Liskow, and Mrs. John Maddox, Mama Pete's Nursery School, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. ● Our official, unofficial weatherman, Loren Metzger, paused from his studies at UC Riverside long enough to come home and report that October rainfall in Sierra Madre equaled .83 inches. He said he was "coming up for air after two weeks of midterms."

Thanks, Loren. It was good hearing from you.

● Rose Float Association pins are now on sale at the Sierra Madre News and at the city hall. They are beautiful — stop in and pick one up for your collection.

● Speaking of the Rose Float, arc welders are needed as well as those who know the technique of chicken wiring for the Sierra Madre float. Those who qualify should call 355-1371, Jerry Adkins.

● One of our Sierra Madreans, Kathy Forresta, is the new Wilson PTA president, Gardner Thurman reports. Congratulations, Kathy.

● License plate that appeared on my typewriter: MY 4N4x4 from a pickup.

Another: PHS2USC. It's obvious where that Pasadena High School student is heading for college.

And more from John Lord, Marilyn Peppin's father: OH SURE, NO TOPP (convertible), HEADS UP, RIDN EZ, I KISS M, SUNBRN (another convertible), MY IX XI, IX PORT, MY HEART, RHOTATE, ITZMIN and SUN BUM (another convertible). MR 2 CUM.

● The other day I received a letter addressed to Jann Red. Hmm.

New series features city code

The Sierra Madre Police Department is providing The News with a series of city laws which are often in need of review by residents.

This series follows a rash of accidents and near accidents involving both bicycles and skate boards on downtown streets.

Many residents have complained to The News that they have nearly been run over (and in one case a resident was knocked down by a bicycle rider).

Merchants must leave their businesses cautiosly to avoid being struck by adults or youth on skate boards or bicycles. Residents walking down local streets must be very cautious not to be hit by people on bikes or skate boards as they zoom down the middle of the sidewalks around town.

According to Police Chief Bill Betts, some of the worst offenders are adults who should know the rules about not riding on sidewalks. Children simply follow in the paths of their elders.

Police will be citing all offenders. When other residents see offenders riding down the sidewalks, they should notify the police department. It is impossible for members of the police force to see every offender, and with residents' help, they may catch more of the suspects. pects.

Watch the front page each week for the series.

Federal tobacco subsidies should not continue

Federal tobacco crop subsidies are "unconscionable and clearly inconsistent" with existing federal health policy and should be ended, California doctors are telling Congress.

"At a time when budget outlays are undergoing careful scrutiny and health care programs and other critical-need areas are suffering budget cutbacks, expenditures to subsidize the number-one preventable public health danger are totally incredulous," Dr. Clarence S. Avery, California Medical Association president, said in a letter to the state's congressional delegation.

CMA, the nation's largest state medical society, has dedicated itself to making California tobacco-free by the year 2000. Tobacco is a leading cause of lung cancer, emphysema and coronary disease.

Tips, Tales & Tantalizers

There is something about the desert that strangely comforts me and looking over the landscape of sagebrush, cactus, Joshua trees and the hard-packed, sandy earth, I stand in awe. This vast desert was once inhabited by Indians and they made their lives in this almost "waterless wasteland." They had no corner, all-night mini-markets to go to when they needed a sack of flour or a pint of jelly or a bottle of cooking oil. Instead, they learned about their land and made their own flour from wheat, their own jelly from cactus and their own cooking oil from jojoba nuts.

The Indians have been using the jojoba nut, not only for oil, but for munching. While they have been putting this acorn-like fruit to use for centuries, it is only recently that modern-day entreprenuers have discovered it. Of course, you have seen it advertised in everything from facial creams to shampoos, to even coffee. In fact, the University of Arizona Office of Arid Lands Research recently held an international conference on jojoba utilization.

You see in many products today, whale oil has been used, and with the whale an endangered species, research discovered the jojoba nut which is 48 to 51% pure oil, an excellent replacement. Jojoba oil has been used as an ingredient in ointments too and in other medicines. But of course, the Indians knew that all the time.

Perhaps that is why the desert is so comforting. And when people tell me there is nothing in the desert, I have to smile. You see, in our modern society we could not live without an all-night mini-market, but we could live in the landscape of sagebrush, cactus, Joshua trees and hard-packed, sandy earth.

Places to go and people to see

G.T.L. and I decided to go out for a little supper on Friday night last. We deserved it — had been dieting pretty well and walking for three days straight. The plan had been to go Mexican. We ended up at Fanara's. You know how that goes. One thing leads to another and your mouth begins watering a particular thought. The thought for G.T.L. was spaghetti.

Fanara's has nice big ads in The News. I read it last week, providential as it happened. When the Italian idea came up, I was ready to recite.

When we drove up, we saw a full parking lot and a line of people. They were waiting at a take-out window. As soon as we got out of the car, we understood. The best pizza smell ever came across the parking lot. We gave a thought to just getting in line.

The restaurant is lovely and welcoming. There were families eating together, a quiet hum of happy conversations and wonderful sounding specials on the board. It felt just right.

The people at Fanara's are very friendly and helpful. They have that quiet confidence that tells you they know what they are doing. Gene had spaghetti and meatballs. It's his favorite (a close second to fetuccine Alfredo) and he judges restaurants on how well they do this simple dish. I chose one of the specials — fetuccine with black olives, scallions, fresh tomato sauce.

We had a very nice salad and garlic bread first. Then came these giant plates heaped with pasta. Never, we said, could we eat this. Guess again. We took home a little box with two spoonsful of each. Kathy complained that there wasn't enough to bother about. Then she took a bite. Then all we heard was, "How could we bring only a teaser home?"

It was a very pleasant, totally delicious supper. We learned a couple of lessons. Next time we go there, we will eat less and take home more. I wanted a few more bites so desperately the next day. Next time we have to have a pizza, also.

We watched the people at the next table and coveted. Long string of cheese . . . Next time we will take friends along and have the special for four. I am drooling at the thought.

And the next time will be SOON.

Questions arising from Ordinance 1016

The half-hour allotted by the City Council for its joint meeting on Oct. 28 with the Planning Commission was not sufficient to provide for all the public input that might have been forthcoming on the subject of ordinance No. 1016 pertaining to guest houses in the R-1 zone. So, while it is back in the hands of the City Attorney for clarification, I would like to express some concerns.

On several occasions, during discussion of non-conforming rentals in R-1 areas, the City Administrator raised the point that the state of California requires all cities to provide "their fair share" of low-cost housing. Implicit in that statement seems to be the notion that enforcement of R-1 zoning with regard to non-conforming rentals might run afoul of state law.

Instead of innuendo, it would be helpful if a clear definition of that law was given: its purpose, its actual requirements, how enforcement would be implemented, etc. If it is the state's intention that cities provide affordable housing for people who work in the community, it might have validity in areas of high commercial development, such as extensive business areas, shopping malls, medical complexes, race track, and thousands of personnel requiring housing. The revenues generated would make it feasible. Here in Sierra Madre, it would be interesting to learn whether there is a lack of adequate housing for people employed locally.

In any case, the implication that non-conforming rentals could satisfy the state's mandate is unworthy of a consideration because of the problems. The most obvious is the fact that most of those units were built without permits and without inspection for health and safety, an example of which is the common hazard of unvented space heaters. Annual inspections are required for rentals in R-3 zones, but are not required for non-conforming rentals in R-1. Furthermore, there is no density factor required for these two-on-a-lot situations in R-1, nor is there a requirement for two covered car spaces for off-street parking.

The General Plan of 1972 recommends the phasing out of pre-existing, non-conforming rentals and the present code prohibits illegal rentals. The General Plan also states that higher density used as a cure-all for housing problems has provided no positive results. Among the ideas expressed in that document under Citizens' Goals, is the recommendation that "areas zoned for single-family dwellings must not be nibbled away."

To sum up, in answer to the question posed by some of the commission members, "When does a guest house become a rental?" My definition is, "When the owner accepts money for its use."

Boy Scout position includes 'Duty to God'

During recent months, a considerable amount of publicity has been given to the subject of the position of the Boy Scouts of America on "Duty to God." Some news articles would indicate that the B.S.A. has abandoned its "Duty to God" stance. This is a matter of deep concern to us and of great interest to the general public.

In order to clarify the position of the Boy Scouts of America in this matter, our National Executive Board has issued a resolution: Reaffirmation of the Position of the Boy Scouts of America on "Duty to God."

We sincerely hope that the people in the San Gabriel Valley will know our position on a Scout's obligation to God.

While visiting my family in Ventura a few weeks ago, I noticed a strange sight. Many people in the neighborhood had glass jars full of water set out on their lawns. Some lawns had two or more water jars situated at opposite points on the lawn. My father was knowledgeable about this community quirk and explained the purpose of the water jars.

It's easy to understand that most homeowners don't appreciate the calling cards that dogs often leave on their property. Somewhere along the line, some person thought of a way to discourage trespassing canines. Many people believe that setting out jars of water on the lawn will keep dogs out of that immediate vicinity.

Is it fact or fiction? I wasn't able to determine any evidence folklore, or otherwise, that suggests it is a working solution. I did, however, see many water jars during my visit. In Ventura there are some firm believers. I have a few places in my yard that might soon be decorated with water jars. I'll let you know of the outcome. You may want to try it yourself, and be sure to let me know your results!

GROUP W TAKES PIC OF WALKING TELEVISION — There goes a walking television set, we heard, so we investigated. And sure enough, not only did the set walk but it also played themes from several television programs.

THE DRYCLEANING PLATFORM

By Joe Delgatto

Here it is, voting time, and we have a platform too.

Not that we're running for a public office, mind you, but we want you to know that there are some things on which we take a firm stand.

The planks in our platform are:

FINE DRYCLEANING — done with the best equipment and personnel available.
PERFECT PRESSING — that extra touch that makes the difference.
COMPLETE SPOT REMOVAL — performed with all the skill our specialists have trained years to accomplish.

We promise you that your clothing will have the finest care possible when you bring them to us.

We promise that we will restore them to "like new" condition each time you bring them to us.

We promise to keep faith with you and all your fabric problems. No matter what the problem, if it is humanly possible to handle, we promise that it will be handled.

This is the platform on which we stand and we hope to get your vote when it comes to drycleaning.

Michael Tims

Therapist moves to Sierra Madre

Michael Tims, a marriage, family and child counselor, moved to Sierra Madre recently and set up an office at 17 Suffolk. He had practiced for four years in Pasadena before moving here two months ago.

Tims continues in his post as family therapist at St. Luke Hospital where he has practiced for three years.

Why did Tims choose this field? He had been a musician for 20 years and says his lifestyle "caught up with me." He was with the new Christy Minstrels as well as other groups, playing the bass fiddle and singing.

He decided to get a better grip on his life, kicked the alcohol and drug dependencies, and started in 1975 as a freshman at L.A. College. From there he went to Cal Sta'e L.A. Since 1979, he has been working there as a therapist.

"My own experiences with alcohol and drugs got me interested in the field," he told The News. He has "been there" and he believes is able to help a little better those so afflicted.

"It surely gives me compassion for situations of my patients," he says.

Besides working as a therapist for those with drug and alcohol dependencies, he also works with those having problems with compulsive behavior in food, work, sex, spending money, gambling. He says they are related with those having compulsive behavioral problems.

Tims treats all ages; his youngest patient is 11 years old and his oldest is 75.

"My wife helps me understand children better." His wife, Judy, is a 6th grade teacher in Monterey Park and has taught for 15 years. "She's a reading specialist," he says.

They have a son who is finishing college at Cal State Long Beach as a computer specialist.

Four years ago the Tims started house hunting and stumbled upon Sierra Madre. "We loved it and couldn't believe something so quaint and so far removed from reality could exist. It's like being in a rural town yet so near the city."

They held it in their hearts until 1½ years ago when they moved here from San Gabriel.

Tims is originally from Detroit but his wife is a native Californian. They are looking forward to getting better acquainted.

Welcome them to Sierra Madre.

When asked where they plan to go for their second honeymoon, the Delgattos reply that they are not returning to Niagara Falls where they went for their first honeymoon until spring when it's warmer there.

Our congratulations to the Delgattos.

La Salle presents 'Arsenic and Old Lace'

La Salle High School presents "Arsenic and Old Lace," Nov. 21-23. The play is one of the outstanding successes of the modern theatre and deals with the Brewster sisters, two disarmingly homicidal ladies, who offer lethal elderberry wine to lonely old men.

Performances, Nov. 21, 22, 23, are at 7:30 p.m. at the La Salle High School Speech Arts Room, 3880 E. Sierra Madre Blvd., Pasadena. Tickets are $4. For further information, please call (818) 351-8951, ext. 20.

The production is under the direction of Beverly Bishop.

The Monrovia Historical Society is hosting an open house at the restored George Anderson House, Nov. 17, 1-4 p.m.

St. Rita parishioners contribute $7000 to earthquake victims

Archbishop Roger Mahoney of the Los Angeles Catholic Archdiocese made a 15-hour flight to Mexico last week with $1 million in earthquake aid for disaster victims.

Of this amount the parishioners of St. Rita's contributed $7000 from a single Sunday of special collections at each mass.

Archbishop Mahoney reported that the $1 million which will be distributed by the Archbishop of Mexico City exceeds the total assistance offered to date by the U.S. government and also exceeds the total contributions of Catholic Diocese collectively throughout the nation.

Volunteers credited

"Through the Looking Glass - a retrospective view of a decade of community blood donation," was the theme as blood donors achieving specific gallon status at Methodist Hospital's William E. Snyder Blood Satellite were honored. The event was held in the garden area of the hospital adjacent to the Maxwell Pavilion. Master of ceremonies at the barbeque dinner was Lew Wagman, senior vice-president for administration.

Sharing in the celebration was Virginia Snyder, volunteer coordinator and many of the volunteers who staff the weekly satellite. To date 20,791 units of blood have been donated at the hospital satellite.

Thank you, Sierra Madre, for your patronage.

Congregational

"Two Models of Maturity" is the title of Pastor Richard J. Anderson's sermon message on Sunday, Nov. 10, at all three morning worship services. The scriptural reference for his message will be Philippians, chapter 2, verses 19 through 30. Timothy and Epaphras were both remarkable examples of what a normal Christian should be. Today we need to follow those people who truly walk with God and are living examples of the truth of God's Word. Godly men and women help us to see Christ more clearly and serve Him wholeheartedly. Timothy had a genuine love for others, and naturally followed Christ. Epaphras too, lovingly ministered to the needs of others, and Paul as well. The three Sunday morning worship services are at 8:30, 9:45 and 11:15 a.m.

The Sunday evening service, which starts at 6 p.m., will be the fifth and final series of messages titled "Leadership" by Pastor Richard Anderson.

Methodist

"Caring for the Grounded" will be the sermon topic, this Sunday, at the Sierra Madre United Methodist Church. This will be the final sermon in a series on the theme "The Church Like Flying Geese" preached by Rev. H. Elwood Wissmann. The morning worship service is at 9:30 on Sunday with nursery and child care provided.

Next Sunday, a fellowship brunch will be held immediately following the morning worship service. Everyone is invited to attend, a free will offering will be received to cover the expenses of the brunch.

A Prayer and Support Group is forming and meeting on Thursday afternoons at two o'clock in the Lounge. The committee on finance meets this Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., in the Lounge.

Bethany

Dr. Donald Bowman of The California Council on Alcohol Problems will speak at the 6:30 p.m. evening service at Bethany Church. Pastor Charles Wickman will continue his series in the Gospel of Mark with a message on "The Day They Thought Jesus Was Crazy" from Mark 3:25.

A vibrant group of Chinese Christian Singers, the "Sonshine Singers" from Overseas Radio and Television in Taipei, Taiwan, will share the 10:30 a.m. service as they perform contemporary and ancient Chinese musical numbers in authentic native costumes.

Kardia Women's Ministry continues their study of Nehemiah from 9:15 - noon on Wednesday. That evening will again feature AWANA Boys' and Girls' Clubs, Church Bible Studies for all adults, "ACCELERATE" for high school, Jr. varsity for junior high and Chancel Choir rehearsal. A nursery is also provided for the Wednesday evening out with a ministry to every age member of the family. Bethany Church of Sierra Madre is located at 93 N. Baldwin Avenue. For more information call 355-1403.

Lutheran

"Jesus, Friend of Sinners" will be the sermon topic at Gloria Dei Lutheran Church in Sierra Madre.

The service will begin at 9 a.m. Sunday School will follow and the adult Bible study will be on "Biblical Prophecy." The study will deal with "symbolic language" and "false prophecy." You are invited to attend both the service and the Bible study.

On Wednesday evening, Nov. 13, Family Bible Class will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the church basement. The Bible study will center in the doctrine of Baptism. It will deal with the topic: "Baptism gives the forgiveness of sins."

Taiwan singers appear at Bethany

September of 1982, a new and vibrant group of Chinese Christian singers emerged on the music scene, challenging young people all over Asia to take a stand for Jesus Christ. The very name of their group, "Sonshine Singers," proclaims abundant life, love and joy.

In the past three years, the singers have traveled to many countries in Southeast Asia, sharing their songs and testimonies. They appear at Bethany Church, Sierra Madre, Sunday at 10:30 a.m.

The meeting is open to the public. Bethany Church is located at 93 N. Baldwin Avenue in Sierra Madre.

The group performs contemporary and ancient Chinese musical numbers in authentic native costumes. New Chinese gospel songs, written by some members of the group, will be heard for the first time, translated into English.

The "Sonshine Singers" serve with a staff of 60 Chinese Christians working in the arts and media production studios of Overseas Radio and Television in Taipei, Taiwan.

The meeting is open to the public. Bethany Church is located at 93 N. Baldwin Avenue in Sierra Madre.

State distributes energy funds

More low-income homeowners and renters will be eligible for federal energy assistance funds this winter as a result of new state legislation, Southern California Gas Co. announced recently.

The bill, authored by State Sen. Herschel Rosenthal (D-Los Angeles) and strongly supported by the Coalition for Increased Low-Income Energy Assistance, will spread California's $95 million share of federal funds to more people who need help paying their natural gas and electric heating bills.

The coalition, which Southern California Gas Co. was instrumental in founding, consists of 18 community, ethnic, labor, government and business organizations throughout southern California.

"This group's main objective has been to increase the allocation of federal energy assistance funds to the state, and to improve the procedures for distributing these funds to needy Californians," said Marcia Secord, district manager for the gas company. "Through intensive lobbying over the last two years, the coalition has succeeded in both areas."

People can receive energy assistance directly from the state Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) and from local community action agencies.

Under the new Rosenthal bill, people eligible for direct funds from OEO can include anyone whose annual income is less than 150 percent of the state poverty level, or $15,975 for a family of four. Those eligible for emergency funds from local agencies can include people with annual incomes less than 130 percent of the poverty level, or $13,845 for a family of four.

"Under these guidelines, some recipients can get as much as $400 to apply to their annual energy bills," Secord said.

Southern California Gas Co. customers interested in the program can call their local gas company office for the names of nearby agencies which distribute federal energy assistance funds, the utility official said.

Muir's Mustangs victorious over Hoover, 13-0

Muir's victory Friday night has tied it to Pasadena Pacific League. Muir and Pasadena are now both 3-0.

To date, Muir has won 5 out of 8 games but Hoover was considered one of the tougher opponents.

Muir's defense got a real workout with Hoover having possesion of the ball 51 times. Muir kept them to only 168 yards, which were mostly gained on the ground. Its offensive also pulled its weight by marching the ball 66 yards in eight plays when James Dunn made the first TD of the game followed by John Ruis' PAT.

With the Tornadoes giving away their only two opportunities for scoring, Muir earned 301 yards in offensive plays to sack the game.

Mohr is suspended

Ed Mohr, Temple City High School teacher and coach, was suspended from teaching and coaching duties for a week after an altercation with a student. He has been an educator with the Temple City Unified School District for 29 years. Details concerning the altercation have not been revealed. The school board discussed the incident during an executive session.

Mohr will return to his teaching duties Monday after he is reassigned. It is not known if he will continue to coach.

Pasadena beats Arcadia, 14-7

Pasadena quarterback Ray Murphy started the game with a 40-yard option-keeper for a TD while Paul Dolle's conversion kick set the 7-0 pace which Arcadia never caught. With PHS still heated, Anthony Wallace took over Pasadena's second position by running up the middle for 18 yards which continued with 8 plays, marching 42 yards in hostile territory.

As 246-pound, 6-foot guard Lamar Watkins punched a hole in the defense, W.C. Morrision followed through to earn the winning TD. Doll made the PAT giving PHS a 14-0 advantage.

Arcadia began to fight back late in the game and pushed against the PHS defense 13 times before Chris McCarn found a way in at the one-yard line. Steve Mazone made the PAT which brought the finishing score to 14-7.

Author cautions smokers about nicotine gum addiction

The author wishes to remain anonymous. Ed.

Fourteen months ago I wrote an article for The News extolling the virtues of nicotine gum, which aided me in giving up smoking after 44 years.

Hypnosis, acupuncture, the Seventh Day Adventist's program and the Schick Clinic had all failed.

My problem was a physical addiction to nicotine. The gum allowed me to continue my addiction, but in a less-harmful fashion — at least to my lungs.

The literature accompanying the gum, which can only be procured by prescription, noted that, at the end of 3 months, you should be down to zero. It warned vaguely to addiction to the gum itself and unknown side effects.

I became addicted to the gum. A year-and-a-half after quitting cigarettes, I was still chewing up to 30 pieces of the gum each day.

Then, suddenly, I developed what seemed like a severe strep throat, accompanied by a heart-wrenching cough. A throat specialist confirmed what I had come to suspect. After 12 days of antibiotics failed to improve the condition, I had developed an allergic reaction to the nicotine gum.

The point of no return had once again come and a true addict had once more come to ground zero. Return to cigarettes isn't in the cards; even one piece of nicotine gum triggers the full fury of the allergic reaction. Nicotine, in any form, has finally become a no-no.

Giving up the gum triggers withdrawal symptoms, and a year-and-a-half after giving up cigarettes, I am now paying at least a portion of my dues.

Still, I would extoll the virtues of nicotine gum as a method of quitting cigarettes, but be warned: it may work for you as it did for me, but it, too, has a point of no return.

Very little long-term research has been conducted on the effects of nicotine gum. It is too new.

Thus, I can provide one of the first relatively long-term results — on an individual, one-patient-only basis.

My analysis of my own personal research project with nicotine gum: kick it at three months like the literature advises. My reaction took a year-and-a-half, but for others it could be much sooner and the side effects could vary considerably.

You'll probably go through some side effects whenever you give up your dependency on nicotine, but whether it is quitting cigarettes cold turkey, or nicotine gum, after a period of non-smoking, it is a lot less lethal than continuing to smoke. Almost anything is . . .
